VESPER IN THE CHURCH EVERY SUNDAY AT 5:00 PM

PASTOR'S CORNER

It's been almost 100 years since Saint Faustina shared that God had a powerful message for our time. Responding to the world's darkening experience between the two World Wars, Jesus shared with her that even in the midst of growing fear and desolation, God had not abandoned us.

Today as conditions continue to reveal a world in distress, we can turn to a God who has a plan for our rescue. The invitation God shares with us lets us know we can turn to him, we can entrust ourselves to him, we can relinquish the domination we have attempted to exert.

Jesus' message to Saint Faustina was the message of Divine Mercy: a power from heaven that can lift us up and transform our experience. What God asks for is that we trust him. He is a father who wants to bless us, but like the prodigal son who has wandered far from home, we need to return to him to receive this gift

This Sunday is Divine Mercy Sunday. This is our chance to abandon our path of self-reliance. We can live who we truly are: children who have a Father who watches over us. And as family members who know God's power, we can bring to him all our loved ones in need of his miracles.

Pray For...Oremos por...

For the following souls of the recently departed, that through the mercy of Christ, they may rest in peace...
Oremos también por todos los fieles difuntos para que a través de la misericordia de Dios descansen en paz....

Jose Apolina Bermudez Romero, Patricia Miller, Abel Torres, Sergio Brambilla, Father Ryan, Andrew Stawaisz, Peggy Steele, Teodorico Mascusi, Charlene Stassi, and Merle Larson

Please keep the following people in your prayers this week: For those suffering illnesses, infirmity, and those in need of our prayers. Recordemos en nuestras oraciones de esta semana a todos aquellos que están enfermos, especialmente a:

Jim Reese, Paul Borromeo, Lori Cremer, Lilia Castro-Mendez, Jackline (a young girl), Monique Figlietti, Charlotte Roberto, Mary Ann Sharp, Virginia Deatsch, Joe Zena, Pat Larson & Family, Kim Hightower, and Lidia Jiminez

Rincón Del Pastor

Han pasado casi 100 años desde que Santa Faustina compartió que Dios tenía un mensaje poderoso para nuestro tiempo. Respondiendo a la experiencia oscurecedora del mundo entre las dos guerras mundiales, Jesús le compartió que incluso en medio de un miedo y una desolación crecientes, Dios no nos había abandonado.

Hoy, mientras las condiciones continúan revelando un mundo en peligro, podemos acudir a un Dios que tiene un plan para nuestro rescate. La invitación que Dios comparte con nosotros nos hace saber que podemos volvernos a él, podemos encomendarnos a él, podemos renunciar a la dominación que hemos intentado ejercer.

El mensaje de Jesús a Santa Faustina fue el mensaje de la Divina Misericordia: un poder del cielo que puede elevarnos y transformar nuestra experiencia. Lo que Dios pide es que confiemos en él. Es un padre que quiere bendecirnos, pero como el hijo pródigo que se ha alejado de casa, necesitamos volver a él para recibir este regalo.

Este domingo es el Domingo de la Divina Misericordia. Esta es nuestra oportunidad de abandonar nuestro camino de autosuficiencia. Podemos vivir lo que verdaderamente somos: hijos que tienen un Padre que vela por nosotros. Y como miembros de la familia que conocen el poder de Dios, podemos traerle a todos nuestros seres queridos que necesitan sus milagros.

Quotation

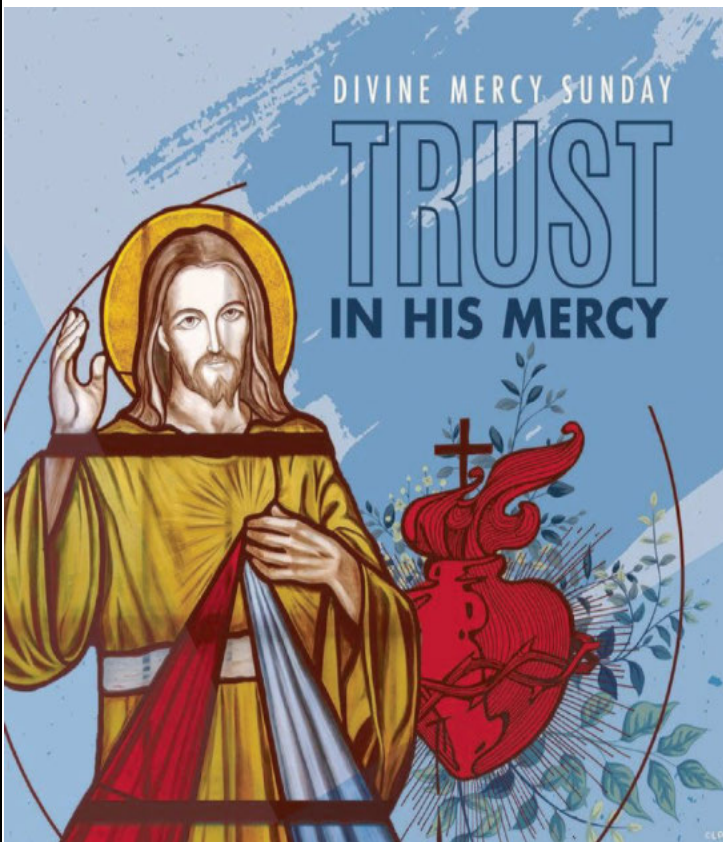

"At the last moment of all, the convert often feels as if he were looking through a leper's window. He is looking through a little crack or crooked hole that seems to grow smaller as he stares at it; but it is an opening that looks towards the Altar. Only, when he has entered the Church, he finds that the Church is much larger inside than it is outside."

-G.K. Chesterton
("The Real Obstacles," The Catholic Church and Conversion)

Reflection & Prayer

This is a Chestertonian motif, that things are larger on the inside. He said that of the Church, he said it of the home—which is the domestic church. What does it mean? It means there is more there than meets the eye. We picture a church from the outside, as an outsider, as a narrow, confining space, one that will restrict us, prevent us, bind us with rules and regulations. But instead, Chesterton found that the open doors of the church opened up to a wider space, a freer space, a space of infinite wonder. The convert is scared. 100 years ago, it was G.K. Chesterton himself who was scared. The Church was not yet home, and yet, it called to him, and his footsteps were turned towards it.

Lord, you call us all to conversion, no matter where we are on the path to You. Help us with our major and minor conversions, help us always turn our footsteps towards You, even when we are scared. Amen. Gilbert & Frances Chesterton, pray for us.

EVERYDAY STEWARDSHIP - RECOGNIZE GOD IN YOUR ORDINARY MOMENTS

The World Is Watching

If you're a parent, you know this to be true: the world is watching. All it takes is one slip-up — one bad word, one selfish action, one uncharitable commentary, and that's the thing your child seems to notice.

When he or she calls you on it, the only thing you can do is come clean. “Yep, I did that,” you have to say. “I’m a work in progress, but luckily, God never stops working.”

I think it's fair to say that we don't think enough about the wounds of Christ. It's a little understandable, of course. Our human bodies flinch at the sight of such pain and mortification. It's a lot to handle, the physical trauma of a crucifixion. It carries an R rating in a PG world.

But the wounds of Christ are the only thing that could make Thomas believe. Literally nothing else was so powerful, not even the testimony of his most trusted friends. Only by looking at and feeling the torn flesh — by beholding that messy reality — did this Apostle, this actual companion of Christ, come to believe in the Resurrection.

“Christ has no body now but yours,” goes the famous quote attributed to St. Teresa of Avila. What she's saying is that we have become the means through which God chooses to accomplish His will in the world. Us, the broken. Us, the weary. Us, the imperfect. Yes, miraculous events and apparitions still occur from time to time, but by and large, if a person is going to come to believe in Jesus Christ in this day and age, it will be because of something we Christians do or say.

Christ has no wounds now but ours. Our brokenness, our weariness, our imperfection — our reality. It all belongs to him, and the world is watching.

LA CORRESPONSABILIDAD DIARIA: RECONOCE A DIOS EN TUS MOMENTOS ORDINARIOS

El mundo está observando

Si eres padre, sabes que esto es cierto: el mundo está observando. Todo lo que se necesita es un desliz: una mala palabra, una acción egoísta, un comentario poco caritativo, y eso es lo que tu hijo parece notar.

Cuando él o ella te lo hace notar, lo único que puedes hacer es confesarlo. "Sí, hice eso," tienes que decir. "Soy un trabajo en progreso, pero afortunadamente, Dios nunca deja de trabajar."

Creo que es justo decir que no pensamos lo suficiente en las heridas de Cristo. Es un poco comprensible, por supuesto. Nuestros cuerpos humanos se estremecen al ver tanto dolor y mortificación. Es mucho para manejar, el trauma físico de una crucifixión. Lleva una calificación R en un mundo PG.

Pero las heridas de Cristo son lo único que podía hacer creer a Tomás. Literalmente, nada más era tan poderoso, ni siquiera el testimonio de sus amigos de más confianza. Solo mirando y sintiendo la carne desgarrada, al contemplar esa realidad complicada, este Apóstol, este verdadero compañero de Cristo, llegó a creer en la Resurrección.

"Ahora, Cristo no tiene más cuerpo que el tuyo," dice la famosa cita atribuida a santa Teresa de Ávila. Lo que ella está diciendo es que nos hemos convertido en el medio a través del cual Dios elige para cumplir Su voluntad en el mundo. Nosotros, los rotos. Nosotros, los cansados. Nosotros, los imperfectos. Sí, eventos milagrosos y apariciones todavía ocurren de vez en cuando, pero en general, si una persona va a llegar a creer en Jesucristo en esta época, será por algo por lo que los cristianos hacemos o decimos.

Ahora, Cristo no tiene más heridas que las nuestras. Nuestro quebrantamiento, nuestro cansancio, nuestra imperfección, nuestra realidad. Todo le pertenece a él y el mundo está observando.
