3RD SUNDAY OF EASTER

Jesus said to them, "Come, have breakfast." And none of the disciples dared to ask him, "Who are you?" because they realized it was the Lord. Jesus came over and took the bread and gave it to them, and in like manner the fish. - Jn 21:12-13

PASTOR'S CORNER

Mayday! Mayday! When your plane is falling from the sky, or your boat has begun to sink, this is your radio distress call. But it also names today, the first day of May. The two references seem like opposites: a pleasant spring into summer festival or a final cry as we collide with disaster.

But the distress call might more closely match what we find in our Sunday readings as we arrive at the Third Sunday of Easter. If you hearken back to Easter itself, one of our Gospel readings described Peter racing to the tomb, whether in panic or astonishment, running to discover what these accounts of a missing body were.

Today Peter flings himself into urgent crisis again, as from the boat he sees someone who might be Jesus, and he dives into a splashing race toward the shore. Peter should be the patron saint of triathletes as he completes two of their three events in breakneck pace. (Is the bicycling element found in his role as evangelist as he 'pedals' the Gospel?)

But Peter's urgency, whether by sea or by land, expresses what should be found in all our hearts. Jesus with blessing, Jesus with grace, Jesus with mercy, breaks into our lives when and where we don't expect, and we should fling ourselves into racing toward him. Risen from the dead, Jesus brings power from heaven, and Peter should teach us how not to miss the moment of our visitation.

Run to Jesus. Race to Jesus. Call out Mayday and seek his rescue.

Rincón Del Pastor

¡Auxilio! ¡Auxilio! Cuando su avión se está cayendo del cielo, o su barco ha comenzado a hundirse, esta es su llamada de socorro por radio. Esta expresión en inglés (Auxillio=mayday) también nombra hoy, el primer día de mayo. Las dos referencias parecen opuestas: una la primavera agradable en un festival de verano o y la otra un último grito cuando chocamos con el desastre.

Pero la llamada de socorro podría coincidir más con lo que encontramos en nuestras lecturas dominicales cuando llegamos al tercer domingo de Pascua. Si escuchas la Pascua misma, una de nuestras lecturas del Evangelio describe a Pedro corriendo hacia la tumba, ya sea en pánico o asombrado, corriendo para descubrir cuáles eran estos relatos de un cuerpo desaparecido.

Hoy Pedro se lanza de nuevo a una crisis urgente, ya que desde la barca ve a alguien que podría ser Jesús, y se lanza en una carrera de chapoteos hacia la orilla. Pedro debería ser el santo patrón de los triatletas, ya que completa dos de sus tres eventos a un ritmo vertiginoso. (¿Se encuentra el elemento de andar en bicicleta en su papel de evangelista mientras "pedalea" el Evangelio?)

Pero la urgencia de Pedro, ya sea por mar o por tierra, expresa lo que debe encontrarse en todos nuestros corazones. Jesús con la bendición, Jesús con la gracia, Jesús con la misericordia, irrumpe en nuestra vida cuando y donde no lo esperamos, y debemos lanzarnos a la carrera hacia él. Resucitado de entre los muertos, Jesús trae poder del cielo, y Pedro debe enseñarnos cómo no perder el momento de nuestra visitación.

Corre asía Jesús. Pide Auxilio y busca su rescate.

Family Faith Formation

Our families have been gathering for retreats to celebrate the light of the Risen Christ! In a mini version of the Easter Vigil, our Faith Formation families gather together to reflect on the Good News of the Resurrection of our Lord and share in His light as they receive a candle lit from a small Paschal Candle. He shares His light with us and we can share it with others as well!

Many of our families are also preparing for their children to receive our Lord in Holy Communion for the first time. Please pray for these children as they explore the gift of the Eucharist, our Good Shepherd who gives all of Himself to us.

Registration for next year will begin in June. Please watch the bulletin and listen for announcements for more information. If you would like to help with Family Faith Formation, please contact Michelle Knox mknnox@stisidore-yubacity.org

Formación de fe familiar

¡Nuestras familias se han estado reuniendo en retiros para celebrar la luz de Cristo Resucitado! En una versión mini de la Vigilia Pascual, nuestras familias de Formación en la Fe se reúnen para reflexionar sobre las Buenas Nuevas de la Resurrección de nuestro Señor y compartir Su luz mientras reciben una vela encendida de un pequeño Cirio Pascual. ¡Él comparte Su luz con nosotros y nosotros también podemos compartirla con otros!

Muchas de nuestras familias también se están preparando para que sus hijos reciban a nuestro Señor en la Sagrada Comunión por primera vez. Por favor, oren por estos niños mientras exploran el don de la Eucaristía, nuestro Buen Pastor que se entrega por completo a nosotros.

Las inscripciones para el próximo año comenzarán en junio. Mire el boletín y escuche los anuncios para obtener más información. Si desea ayudar con la formación familiar en la fe, comuníquese con Michelle Knox mknnox@stisidore-yubacity.org

Quotation

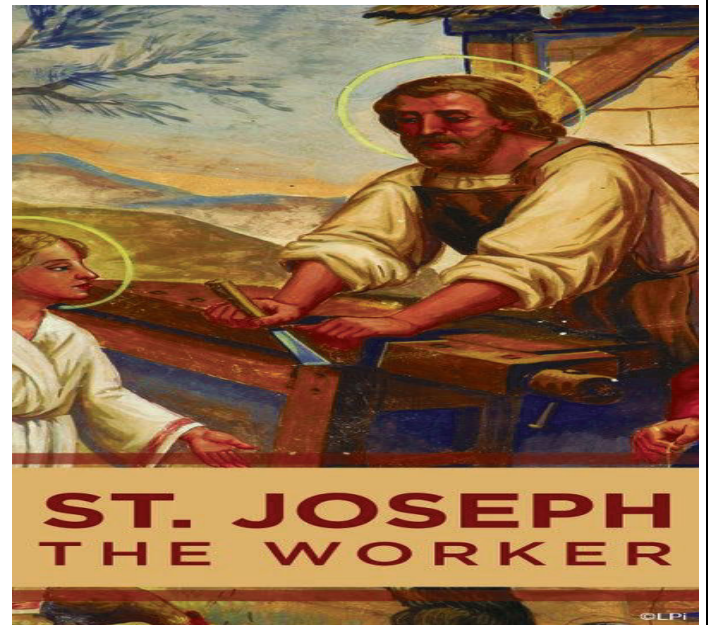

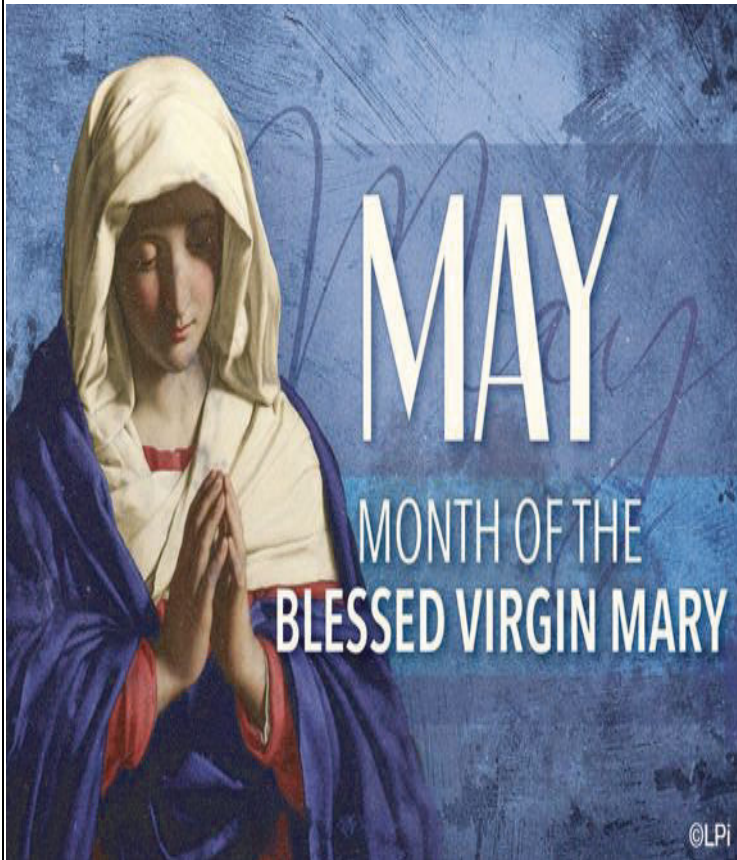

"At the last moment of all, the convert often feels as if he were looking through a leper's window. He is looking through a little crack or crooked hole that seems to grow smaller as he stares at it; but it is an opening that looks towards the Altar. Only, when he has entered the Church, he finds that the Church is much larger inside than it is outside."

-G.K. Chesterton
("The Real Obstacles," The Catholic Church and Conversion)

Reflection & Prayer

This is a Chestertonian motif, that things are larger on the inside. He said that of the Church, he said it of the home—which is the domestic church. What does it mean? It means there is more there than meets the eye. We picture a church from the outside, as an outsider, as a narrow, confining space, one that will restrict us, prevent us, bind us with rules and regulations. But instead, Chesterton found that the open doors of the church opened up to a wider space, a freer space, a space of infinite wonder. The convert is scared. 100 years ago, it was G.K. Chesterton himself who was scared. The Church was not yet home, and yet, it called to him, and his footsteps were turned towards it.

Lord, you call us all to conversion, no matter where we are on the path to You. Help us with our major and minor conversions, help us always turn our footsteps towards You, even when we are scared. Amen. Gilbert & Frances Chesterton, pray for us.

WHAT WE BRING TO THE FIRE

For Sunday, May 1, 2022

3rd Sunday of Easter

Acts 5:27-32, 40b-41

Rev 5:11-14

Jn 21:1-19 or 21:1-14

Jesus said to them, "Bring some of the fish you just caught." So Simon Peter went over and dragged the net ashore, full of one hundred fifty-three large fish. — John 21:10-11

One of the stories that has earned the place of legend in my family lore is "The Time Colleen Made the Johnnycakes."

A Johnnycake, if you don't know, is a thin cornmeal pancake apparently popular during colonial times, and it was the recipe I selected from my American Girl doll cookbook when I was so young I could barely read correctly, but nevertheless decided I was going to bake something on my own.

My mother was kind enough to let me, but in the chaos of a kitchen full of children fumbling with measuring spoons and seeing who could talk the loudest, she was too distracted to realize that I had mistaken the abbreviation “tsp” to mean “cup.” Thus, I had decided that the “¾ tsp salt” required by the recipe indicated that I was to put three to four cups of salt into the batter.

Those Johnnycakes were literally painful to eat. We spit them out into the sink and rinsed our mouths with cold water. When we finally realized exactly what my mistake had been, we all had a good laugh, and my mother had a big mess. I’ll tell you what, though: after that, I knew what the abbreviation “tsp” meant.

I think of the Johnnycakes every time my children ask to help me with a grown-up task. When a child offers his help, it’s so tempting to brush him off and tell him to go occupy himself with the work of a child and leave the work of an adult to someone who can do it properly.

But then I remember that, when he already had a fine meal cooking, Jesus invited his disciples to bring their fish to the fire.

God does not really need anything from us, does he? We do not have the ability to add to His glory, His power, His perfection or His joy. We can’t really help.

But he created us, as the Catechism says so beautifully, out of His “sheer goodness,” as a parent conceives a child, “to make him share in his own blessed life.” So here we are, with our dead, smelly fish. And any parent will know that accepting the offering of a child is a gift to the child more than it is a help to the parent. It gives him honor. It gives him purpose. It gives him pride. It gives him knowledge.

So, what does God do, time and time again? He doesn’t just allow us to drag our dead fish to his already blazing fire — he tells us to. He accepts our offering — our good works, our suffering, our praise, our love. He accepts everything we have to give, and then He sits with us, and He gives us a job to do. And for just a moment, he lets us in on the glorious mystery of the love of an omnipotent God — the happiness He allows us to give Him, happiness He did not need and can thrive without.

No, the work will never be done more quickly or proficiently with the help of the child. The dishwasher will need to be clandestinely reloaded after he runs off to play. The dust rag will be oversaturated with water, wreaking havoc on the furniture finish if you don’t intercept it and wring it out. Best-case scenario, the recipe will have a little too much flour in it, worst-case scenario, it’ll be totally inedible and you’ll find yourself out of salt.

But the point of letting the child help is no more to expedite the work than the point of life is having a clean house. A change occurs inside of him when he is allowed to participate in the family mission. Little seedling feelings of responsibility and fulfillment begin to take root.

For just a moment, we let him in on the glorious mystery of parenthood — all-consuming happiness that accompanies (or does it derive from?) never-ending work — perhaps the only such work since Eden to ever really bring fulfillment.

It is a gift to him, not to us.

Colleen Jurkiewicz Dorman

PRAYER

May we never forget, Lord, the honor you bestow on us by allowing us to share in your mission. May we have renewed strength to bring our offering to the fire.
