PASTOR'S CORNER

"Do not let your hearts be troubled. You have faith in God; have faith also in me." These words of Jesus in our Gospel today turn our life around. It's natural to worry; it's natural to be afraid. Jesus asks us to live in a different way.

Worrying can feel like the most responsible thing to do. When bad things threaten, not to take them seriously seems to define falling short as an adult. When you talk with people pointing out looming risks and dangers, it would feel like you weren't serious if you didn't join them.

But is that God's intention for his children? And while we're asking, what might our enemy's intention for us be? God is all-powerful and all-knowing, and he is fulfilling a plan of abundant life for his people. Our enemy knows that he can't stop God from winning—but he can try to deprive us of sharing in our Father's abundance today.

Satan is known as the accuser, and while we usually think of him accusing us for our sins, it's also true that he relentlessly accuses God of being absent, falling short, not having everything covered. Satan can then get us to fret about what's happening in the world, the state of the Church, circling the wagons in apprehension of things falling apart.

Do not let your hearts be troubled. You have faith in God; have faith also in me. Jesus' words are vital for us today when panic sets in via our new communication channels, the tempo of life and change, the latest bad news. Panic sets in, or at least a low-grade anxiety.

What if you truly believed that God was all-powerful? To live in faith is to recognize that the promises of God are as solid as current lived experience. A promise from God feels like it's out in the future for us; but God's reality means future gifts are already in the bank. You can live today relying on God's word.

Ultimately, to do otherwise is to live without faith. When we tell God, "I know you are in charge, but I'm still going to fret about how this or that is going to work out in my life," we're snatching away from him a portion of our story and asserting our sovereignty over it—rather than his.

Stop listening to the whispers of Satan, and trust in the words of Jesus. You are not to live with worry; the sign of the Christian is peace and joy.

REFLEXIÓN DEL PASTOR

"No dejen que sus corazones se preocupen. Tienes fe en Dios; ten fe también en mí." Estas palabras de Jesús en nuestro Evangelio hoy cambian nuestra vida. Es natural preocuparse; Es natural tener miedo. Jesús nos pide que vivamos de otra manera.

Preocuparse puede parecer lo más responsable. Cuando amenazan cosas malas, no tomarlas en serio parece definir quedarse corto como adulto. Cuando hablas con personas que señalan riesgos y peligros inminentes, parecería que no ibas en serio si no te unieras a ellos.

¿Pero es esa la intención de Dios para sus hijos? Y ya que preguntamos, ¿cuál podría ser la intención de nuestro enemigo para nosotros? Dios es todopoderoso y omnisciente, y está cumpliendo un plan de vida abundante para su pueblo. Nuestro enemigo sabe que no puede impedir que Dios gane, pero puede intentar privarnos de compartir la abundancia de nuestro Padre hoy.

Satanás es conocido como el acusador, y aunque normalmente pensamos que nos acusa de nuestros pecados, también es cierto que acusa incansablemente a Dios de estar ausente, de quedarse corto, de no tener todo cubierto. Satanás puede entonces hacernos preocuparnos por lo que está ocurriendo en el mundo, el estado de la Iglesia, y dar vueltas en círculos con temor a que las cosas se desmoronen.

No dejen que sus corazones se preocupen. Tienes fe en Dios; Ten también fe en mí. Las palabras de Jesús son vitales para nosotros hoy en día, cuando el pánico se instala a través de nuestros nuevos canales de comunicación, el ritmo de la vida y el cambio, las últimas malas noticias. Se instala el pánico, o al menos una ansiedad leve.

¿Y si realmente creyeras que Dios es todopoderoso? Vivir en fe es reconocer que las promesas de Dios son tan sólidas como la experiencia vivida actual. Una promesa de Dios parece que está fuera de vista para nosotros; pero la realidad de Dios significa que los dones futuros ya están en el banquete. Puedes vivir hoy confiando en la palabra de Dios.

En última instancia, hacer lo contrario es vivir sin fe. Cuando le decimos a Dios: "Sé que tú mandas, pero aun así voy a preocuparme por cómo esto o aquello va a acabar en mi vida", le estamos arrebatando una parte de nuestra historia y afirmando nuestra soberanía sobre ella—en lugar de la suya.

Deja de escuchar los susurros de Satanás y confía en las palabras de Jesús. No debes vivir con preocupaciones; el signo del cristiano es la paz y la alegría.

Q Why are the elect presented with the creed and the Lord's Prayer?

A Now that the elect have finished their initial formation and draw closer to the waters of baptism, the Church finds them ready to receive and pray with the creed and the Lord's Prayer. During the Third Week of Lent, the assembly hands on the creed to the elect by proclaiming it in their presence. The elect will "give back" or recite the creed on Holy Saturday as part of the Rites of Immediate Preparation. During the Fifth Week of Lent, the elect are given the Lord's Prayer, which will become their prayer as Christians. The handing on of these foundational elements of our tradition entrust to the elect the discipline of faith and prayer.

Did you know....?

After receiving the Eucharist in a Catholic Mass, the expected response is very simple:

- The minister (priest, deacon, or extraordinary minister) says: "The Body of Christ." (or "The Blood of Christ" if receiving from the chalice)
- You respond: "Amen."

That "Amen" is important—it means "I believe" or "so be it," affirming your faith in the Church's teaching about the Real Presence.

Our Lady of Fatima, pray for us!
Our Lady of Fatima, intercede for us!

¿Sabías que...?

Después de recibir la Eucaristía en una misa católica, la respuesta esperada es muy sencilla:

El ministro (sacerdote, diácono o ministro extraordinario) dice: «El Cuerpo de Cristo» (o «La Sangre de Cristo» si se recibe del cáliz).

Tú respondes: «Amén».

Ese «Amén» es importante: significa «creo» o «así sea», afirmando su fe en la enseñanza de la Iglesia sobre la Presencia Real.

DIOS SANTO, ALABAMOS TU NOMBRE

"SI BIEN NADIE SUGIERE QUE CRISTO ESTÉ MÁS PRESENTE EN EL SACRAMENTO EXPUESTO QUE EN EL TABERNÁCULO, ESTA VISIBILIDAD FÍSICA PUEDE SER UNA AYUDA PODEROSA PARA APRENDER A ESTAR ATENTOS AL SEÑOR EN ORACIÓN... LA EXPOSICIÓN DEL SANTÍSIMO SACRAMENTO ES UNA EXTENSIÓN DE LA MISA. PROLONGA LA MISA... (Y ES) UN MEDIO PARA ATRAER AL ADORADOR A UNA VIDA MÁS PROFUNDA DE ORACIÓN, A UNA RELACIÓN MÁS ÍNTIMA CON CRISTO"

IT PROLONGS THE MASS...(AND IS) A MEANS TO DRAWING THE ADORER INTO A DEEPER LIFE OF PRAYER, A MORE INTIMATE RELATIONSHIP WITH CHRIST"
